ALICE in WONDERLAND

In a new stage adaptation by Ant Stones & GSC

Directed by Charlotte Conquest | Designed by PJ McEvoy | Sound by Matt Eaton | Lighting by Declan Randall

“We're all mad here”

This November marks 150 years since Alice fell down the rabbit-hole in Lewis Carroll's wonderfully nonsensical creation Alice in Wonderland.

To celebrate this anniversary and Guildford's unique relationship with Lewis Carroll, GSC have created an immersive theatrical experience where you will join Alice on her curious adventures in Wonderland.

For this unique production you'll be starting in the very church where Carroll preached: St Mary's...but that is only the beginning! From there you'll follow Alice and the White Rabbit on a magical journey through Guildford's own Wonderland: experience the Museum as you've never seen it before, be careful not to lose your head in the Castle Keep...and who knows, by the end maybe you too may believe in “as many as six impossible things before breakfast”. Just like Alice!

IMPORTANT This is a promenade performance, visiting different venues; therefore part of the action will take place outside as you move between properties. We regret that due to the limitations of the venues, this production is not suitable for wheelchair users. Those with limited mobility, please visit the website for more details.
